

It started as a liquid

The liquid was warm and tingly. I could feel it moving, flowing under the surface

Within a few hours, it had started to take on solid forms. Just like the advertisement said.

Over time, the forms got more complex

Finally, on the second day, it began to look recognizably human

Still not completely solid though

Exhausted but too excited to leave the room,
I decided to rest my eyes for just a minute

I could sense someone standing over me.
How long had I been asleep?

Oh! You got out of the tub all by yourself!

Look at you!
I'm so proud of you!

You're perfect

Ouch! It stings!

Is it supposed to sting?

Ok. I think I'm ok.

It worked!
Just like the advertisement said

Nice and smooth

Now I'm perfect too

